The first of more than 2,000 foundation piles, which will support Stelco's new basic oxygen complex, is driven into the ground at Hilton Works.

STELCO

Dawn of a new era at Stelco!

"Clean" steelmaking...6 million tons a year!

Stelco's long association with the Hamilton community will be further strengthened in the 'seventies by the provision of new record-setting steelmaking facilities at Hilton Works, and the intensification of procedures for the quality control of air and water.

Already a start has been made on the construction of a new basic oxygen furnace complex, which by 1973 will see Stelco's annual ingot capacity increased from 4½ million tons to 6 million tons, and will virtually eliminate fume emission from all steelmaking operations. Total cost will exceed 50 million dollars, of which about 4 million is for air pollution control equipment.

This will bring to more than $50 million dollars the total spent or committed by Stelco in the last 10 years to improve air and water quality control, and will be part of Stelco's total commitment to support the government's pollution abatement programme.

Here are the efforts already made by Stelco in this direction

In the quality control of air:

- Electrostatic precipitators on the newer open hearth furnaces and all blast furnaces
- Dust collection equipment on the sinter plant
- A smokeless charging car for the coke ovens

In the drive to eliminate water impurities:

- A phenol recovery plant for the coke ovens
- Various oil recovery and acid disposal systems
- Various closed water-recirculation systems
- An acid regeneration system for re-use of waste acid
